DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

3. Claims 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential structural cooperative relationships of elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the necessary structural connections. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted structural cooperative relationships are:

- Claim 8 recites "in combination" but does not provide any specifics about the combination.
- Furthermore no relationship between the first connector and at least one second connector is provided.

Note: The recitation "in combination" has been ignored.

Specification

4. The following is a quotation of an appropriate paragraph of 37 CFR 1.75:

(d) The claim or claims must conform to the invention as set forth in the remainder of the specification and the terms and phrases used in the claims must find clear support or antecedent basis in the description so that the meaning of the terms in the claims may be ascertainable by reference to the description. (See 1.58(a)).

Art Unit: 2839

5. Specification is objected under 37 C.F.R. 1.75(d) because the first connector with a first interface and a second connector with a second and third interface have not been described in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 1-4, 6, and 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Rupert (6,540,549).

Rupert (Figures 1-6) shows an electrical device connector 18 having a body with a plurality of conductors terminating at a first interface and a plurality of conductors terminating at a second interface adapted to connect to a portable electrical device through jumper 14 with a plug 16 at the end wherein the device connector has a predetermined rating, a peripheral contoured body portion with keyed portion at the first interface only connectable to a power source connector rated at least as high as the device connector power rating and commensurate with a power rating of the portable electronic device. The device connector has connector component 14 establishing the device connector rating.

Art Unit: 2839

As to the claims 8-12, Figures 4-6 shows the connector (the second connector) 18 with a second interface and a third interface back connectable to a first interface of a variety of connectors (first connectors) wherein the first and second connectors could be either a plug or a socket.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rupert (6,540,549) in view of Schroeder (4405190).

Rupert shows all the features of this claim except a resistor. The use of a resistor is common knowledge, well known and widely used component in electrical connectors. Schroeder shows a resistor. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to use a resistor in Rupert's connector in order to control the power rating as is well known in the art.

10. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rupert (6,540,549).

Rupert shows all the features of this claim except the keyed portion having a lobe. Rupert shows keyed portion as slots and projections. The use of a lobe or rounded portion is well known. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to use a lobe in Ruppert's connector in order to provide a smooth surface as is well known in the art.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. DeFeo (5899766), Pierson, Jr. (6544049), Lopez (6746279).
